

STELLA & FANNY

2026, Film, Vidéo HD

Fanny & Stella follows Gustav and Kevin, two bored and lonely trans boys in contemporary Berlin. Drawing on the legacy of Thomas Ernest Boulton and Frederick William Park, they invent a game to reclaim desire in a city that offers few spaces for trans men to explore their sexuality. Using their former feminine appearance as a temporary costume, they try to get into strangers' cars, playing with the warning that one should never enter a stranger's vehicle in order to access forms of easy, anonymous sex now largely unavailable to them. The cast is drawn entirely from FetLife, specifically seeking men with fantasies of sex in cars. As the game unfolds, Fanny and Stella come to realize that once you have stepped outside the heterosexual script, returning to it may be impossible... and that fantasy itself might be more satisfying than reality. The film is currently in funding, scheduled for filming in 2026, and developed in collaboration with E. Hütt (BleiFrei, Locarno).